Supervisor will provide instruction and training to employees, improving communication and showing value and respect for workers' time. The position will make the department more efficient through better scheduling and planning jobs, as well as following through in the field. Finally, this position can save money in the contracted services line by streamlining work. By streamlining the scheduling and allowing the team to better manage the existing staff, more work can be done. For example, the new streetscapes on Hamilton St are being completed, and maintenance has been turned over to the city which would cost over $65,000 per year if the maintenance was contracted out through the 46 account. The addition of the Chief Maint. Supervisor will streamline this work and allow for a cost savings.
